WHERE SNOW LIES LONGEST

Speaking of denuding the hills of forests and its effect upon creeks and mountain streams, as tending to create floods and freshets by the sudden melting of snow, which is followed by a drought, an exchange remarks:

So far as the Sierra Nevadas are concerned, it is susceptible of proof that the snow lies longest where there is no timber. Other conditions being equal, the ground gets bare first near the trunks of large trees. One reason of this is that during the Spring nights when it freezes the heat received by the tree during the day is slowly given out during the night, and the quantity is sufficient to keep the snow near the tree melting, while outside this influence it is frozen hard and remains so hours after the sun strikes it in the morning.

A person who has been in the mountains south of Bodie has no doubt remarked that on the steep hillsides bordering Mono lake snow lies nearly all Summer in the heat of the sun where not a tree exists, but where there is timber the ground is bare. In Lake Canyon, in the shade of thick groves, snow disappears a long time before it melts from the open spots. But the fact does not explode the theory that forests greatly assist in preserving moisture in their vicinity, for though snow in groves disappears quicker than where there are no trees, the soil of the latter becomes dry, while that around trees remains moist a much longer time after the snow melts, for instead of evaporating in the hot sun, as on the plains, the moisture sinks into the ground and is retained.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Chinese company is negotiating for a tract of land near Flushing, Long Island, with the intention of raising vegetables for the New York market. When the Chinaman comes in direct competition with those who have had a monopoly of the trade for many years, and find their receipts shaved down so low that they won't pay for manure and irrigation, they will begin to see what a human teredo the "little brown man" is and how insidiously he can bore into their profits.

Judge Hoffman, at San Francisco, on Wednesday, fined a man and also sent him to jail for four months for giving liquor to Indians, no money being received. The Court held that the giving liquor to Indians, whether any payment was made or not, came within the meaning of the statute under which the man was convicted. Many have evaded punishment upon the plea that they gave liquor instead of selling it. This case will settle the question.

The great explosion of dynamite in London, particulars of which will be found in the GAZETTE'S dispatches, indicates that the Irish Invincibles, or somebody else, are "carrying the war into the enemy's country."

The New York Times says significantly: The jury that acquitted Dukes were all Democrats, all married men and all fathers, and three of them have grown up daughters.

Senator Fair says there is nothing in the report that he will resign and be succeeded by Governor Adams, and that it emanated from the politicians of Carson.

Hereafter Mono county will have but one Superior Judge, both Wiggins and his office having been abolished by the California Legislature.

The taxing of beef cattle is the subject of much discussion among stockmen.

Carrying the War into the Heart of London.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 16. An attempt was made Wednesday evening to blow up the town. The News says: It is impossible not to connect the perpetrators of this outrage with certain phases of the Irish assassin press of America. The Times says: "The Fenian answer to Gladstone's speech on the Land Act was not delayed. We are in the presence of the first attempt of the dynamite party to carry out their policy of bringing the war into the heart of London. The explosion at our office occurred at 7:45 Wednesday evening, but the falling of the cannister of explosive prevented any serious damage. We have reason to believe that two attempts of this kind have been made by the same miscreants."

NEW YORK, March 16. The Sun has this from London: Every part of Westminster Abbey, the houses of Parliament, the great structures of public offices, the clubs and dwelling houses were violently shaken to-night by a tremendous explosion, which was followed by the crash of glass falling from thousands of windows. A deliberate attempt had been made to blow up part of the government offices—the part occupied by Sir Charles Dilke and the Local Government Board in the immense building bounded by Parliament street, Downing and Charles streets and St. James Park.

The apartments in question front on Charles street and are almost level with the pavement. The walls are of great thickness, of solid masonry, and the windows protected by massive rods. Opposite, 50 yards away, is the King-street police station, and 50 feet away are the sentry guards on the Parliament street front. Charles street is dark and unfrequented at night, which partly explains the extraordinary fact that no lives were lost.

Dynamite was placed on a window sill inside the balustrade, where the fuse when burning would be concealed from the view of anyone passing. The force of the explosion was terrible. The great stone balustrade was obliterated, the massive masonry shook to fragments and the pavement shattered and ground to powder. A wooden structure opposite was blown to splinters, and a mass of stone was driven through the house beyond it.

Inside of the walls there remained nothing but splintered wood and broken plaster, and the walls were burst asunder.

It was an indescribable scene of destruction. The street was completely covered with fragments of broken plate-glass blown out and shattered to atoms. The doors of the King-street police station were burst in by the force of air and the occupants prostrated. Broken timbers and masses of stone were sent flying into King street.

People passing at Parliament street were knocked down. A hansom and horse were flung across the sidewalk against the front of the Whitehall Club in which the great plate glass windows were driven in a shower into the room. Everywhere the greatest consternation prevailed. People poured out of their houses, broken glass cracking under their feet.

In the House of Commons the alarm was general. Many members left immediately. The lobby was emptied and people rushed out of Westminster Abbey Hall. Some 200 police and a detachment of the First Brigade took possession of Charles street and drew a cordon around the building which no one but members of Parliament and public officials were allowed to pass.

As the alarm spread excited bands flocked from all parts towards Westminster, and the most intense excitement prevailed, the report rapidly gaining currency that the House of Commons had been blown up. No one to-night pretends to explain the motive or purpose of the act. It is ascribed to the Irish Invincibles, as a matter of course, and described as part of a Fenian plot, and a threat and warning to the Government. One thing only is certain—it was a deed of frightful and inexplicable atrocity, and only good fortune prevented it from being attended with the most serious fatality.

NEW YORK, March 16. The Times and other journals, interviewing Egan on the Westminster explosion, represent him and his colleagues as incredulous as to its alleged cause, but quite reticent. Egan thinks it may have been a gas explosion, but with present information he can say nothing about it.

LONDON, March 16—11 A. M.

There is an enormous crowd gathered at the scene of the explosion last night in the Local Government Board offices in Westminster. The Government Inspector has made an examination of a portion of the building damaged by the explosion, and places the loss at 40,000 pounds. A later and closer inspection shows that the explosion occurred from the outside of the building.

NEW YORK, March 16. A reporter saw Patrick Egan and asked him what he thought of the attempt to blow up the government buildings in London. "There are no people under the sun," said Egan, "so subject to panic as the English people. Here an explosion of gas, or something similar, occurs in sight of officers, as it might anywhere; but just because they are government officers the cry is raised: 'Oh, it's dynamite.' The latter then turns it into Irish dynamite. It's Ireland, of course. I dare say if Sheridan had been there that they would put him down as being connected with it."

IRISH AFFAIRS.

LONDON, March 15. Parnell's friends have resolved to take the question of the proposed testimonial off his hands. A national movement in its favor is about to be started under the auspices of the Irish Bishop Croke, Ed. Gray, M. P., and Charles Dawson, M. P. It is thought the response of the people will be so emphatic as to induce the Irish leaders to reconsider his decision on the subject. Parnell's presence at the Convention in America may be regarded as almost certain. He speaks warmly of the efforts making to maintain the unity, strength and organization of the Irish race in the United States. Egan gave up all Land League funds and securities months ago on his return to Dublin. It is supposed application will be made for his extradition; not with the hope of its being successful, but in order to damage the leaders of the League.

LONDON, March 16.

A dispatch to the Times from Dublin says the Government has refused to accept the evidence of James Mallett. James Carey, the informer, has received letters from all parts of the Kingdom notifying him that there were plenty of men to take the place of those arrested.

DUBLIN, March 16.

The Evening Telegraph charges the London press, especially the Times, with endeavoring to excite mob violence against the Irish.

THE SURPLUS GENEVA AWARD.

LONDON, March 16. Kennard will move in the Commons that in view of the complete satisfying of all demands of American citizens upon the sum the Geneva conference allowed in regard to the Alabama claims, the House is of the opinion that the surplus should be restored to Great Britain.

MASS FOR THE SOUL OF A DIPLOMAT.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 16.

From advices from Indian Territory the prevailing belief is that Sleeping Rabbit, the leading man of the Spieches band of rebellious Creeks, who with others was captured last week, was summarily executed by General Porter's forces after he had been arrested. The Creek Indians were intensely excited over it. Intelligence received to-day gives the history of his death. The whole party had been given a preliminary examination before Judge Reek and two other Judges in Okmulgee. After hearing the case they decided to hold Sleeping Rabbit, but release the others on condition of their taking the oath of allegiance to the government. This they did. Sleeping Rabbit, confined in an upper room, asked permission to go out, which he was allowed to do, accompanied by two companions and followed by a guard, David Sizemore. When he reached the door he slammed it in the guard's face and started to run. As soon as the guard got out he ordered him to halt, but he did not, when Sizemore fired on him. At the fourth fire he fell with a bullet in his brain and died in a few minutes. On examination it was found that every shot hit him, two of them being through the head.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR PLEASED WITH AMERICA — HE LIKES NEW YORK BETTER THAN LONDON.

NEW YORK, March 16.

A Tribune reporter interviewed the Japanese Ambassador, who said: "I like New York better than any city I've ever visited."

"How do you compare the institutions of this city with those of London?" asked the reporter.

"New York is far ahead of London in every way."

"Substitute Tokio for London in comparison," suggested the reporter.

"Japan is only a boy as compared with America. It is impossible to compare the prosperity of cities in these two countries."

"What feature of American life struck you as particularly interesting?"

"The cheerfulness of the people. It has been very pleasant for me to observe the energy of the people in this city. Ever since Commodore Perry opened the ports of Japan we have been much interested in this country; and then Grant visited us a few years ago and was gladly received by the Government and also by the common people. Every one had heard of his wonderful deeds here and admired him very much."

"I like Central Park with its statues, obelisks, museums, lake, etc. I also visited Castle Garden and saw emigrants land. It made me very sad to see the women and children. They looked so poor. Such a sight! Representatives of all nations entering port by the ship load. One cannot see this in any other country, and yet America welcomes them all. I leave San Francisco on the City of Pekin about April first."

THAT PLAY-ACTOR CHINAMAN.

NEW YORK, March 16.

The Chinese residents of this city were greatly pleased yesterday when they heard that Loo Chin Goon, the Chinese actor, was on his way to this city. The Chinamen were very anxious to see him, not because he was the most famous or popular actor that ever delighted a Chinese audience, but because he was an actor who had been loudly heralded by his friends. The editor of the Chinese-American said he had never heard of Chin Goon and had not been able to find a Chinaman who did know anything about him. The Chinese, however, would give him a warm reception and the editor would give him all the support in his power.

LAUNCH OF THE STEAMSHIP MARIPOSA

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.

The Ledger says of the Mariposa launch: As the immense ship glided into the water she was christened "Mariposa" by the wife of Captain Joseph Steele, Superintendent of construction of the Oceanic Steamship Company. The steamer will be ready for sea about the first of May. The cost of the ship is about $600,000. A sister ship, the Alameda, will be ready for launching in about three weeks. Jay Gould's yacht, it is expected, will be launched in two weeks, and the immense iron monitor, Terror, on the 24th inst.

Mr. M. has lately bought the range and stock of G. W. Raines, making him now one of the largest land and stock owners of Modoc county.

Want to Help Him.

It is proposed to get up a substantial benefit in Carson and Virginia to assist John Piper to re-establish himself again. He has always been liberal in his management of theatrical matters and often taken chances on first-class companies that seemed almost too expensive to appear in small towns; but he never "squealed" if he lost, as he often has, no doubt, and therefore Virginia has obtained the reputation of being a first-class show town. It is to be hoped that Mr. Piper's proposed benefit will be a substantial one.

Choice Groceries.

A. J. Clark received to-day a choice lot of goods direct from the East. Among the invoice were two barrels of sugar from the Standard sugar refinery of Boston, Mass., and a lot of case goods, consisting of can corn, Eastern stringless beans, etc. Mr. Clark proposes to keep a full stock of the choicest groceries at all times. His Eastern sugar is far superior to that made on this coast.

Lake Against Lake.

The Supreme Court was in session yesterday for the purpose of hearing the argument in the Lake case. The suit was to set aside the decision of the Court below and to compel M. C. Lake to give his divorced wife the sum of $100,000. It is rumored on the streets to-day that the case has been decided against Lake.

A Long Run.

Nick Cole yesterday made the run from the Humboldt House to Wadsworth, a distance of 96 miles, with one tank of water. He says he and Forrest can do it any time when they have not over eight cars.

The Man For the Place.

Fred Schaffer came up the other day to work at Knowles & Bainbridge's. Mr. Schaffer is a first-class plumber and will be found reliable and prompt.

Economical Soap.

Removes paint, tar, grease, etc., by using in the ordinary way. It is superior to all others. Ask your grocer for it.

THE PROFESSIONAL TRAMP.

How He Jumps a Train and Gets a Free Ride.

A professional tramp relating his experience at the depot the other day, when he was watching for a chance to ride west on the sly, said: I once made 500 miles on the Central Pacific, from Ogden west, on the emigrant train. The conductor only goes through the train once and gives back no checks. Well, I got on at Corinne, about 15 miles west of Ogden, and watched the conductor. He began to look at the tickets of the passengers at the front end of the train. Well, I watched him until we came to a heavy grade and the train was running very slow. I simply jumped off the ground and ran a car, getting off behind the conductor. For the next 12 hours I had no more trouble. When the next conductor came on I repeated the running act. This game I kept up until I reached Reno. A great scheme is to sugar the yardmaster and have him seal you up in a freight car. But you CAN'T PLAY THE GAME.

Here. Mussey and that other fellow are too sharp, and a fellow gets the sublime bounce if he goes to smelling around a train, particularly if he happens to be a bit shabby. Years ago it was a common thing for twenty or thirty toughs to board a train in California and ride as far as they wanted. It was a strange sight to see the old miners, each with a blanket, riding on top of the freight cars. The Central Pacific, however, succeeded in getting some very stringent legislation through, and when fellows in small numbers accepted the courtesy of a ride without pay, they were suddenly, severely and heavily sat down on. The scheme there among THE KNOWING ONES.

Was for the three or four, or as many as happened to be captured, to swear that they had each paid some train man half a dollar, and the justice usually dismissed the case, for if the allegation came to the ears of the general officers of the Central Pacific they forthwith dismissed every man on that train. The doors of loaded freight cars are frequently "sprung" with fish plates. The "Yakir" gets in, taking his fish plate with him, and an outside party springs the door back. When the traveler has gone far enough he springs the door open with his fish plate and walks forth. The emigrant trains are all easy to work, and a man who can't work his way in a high-toned emigrant car from Chicago to San Francisco has not the stuff in him of which millionaires are made.

PLUMAS ITEMS.

THAT TRUCKEE SHOOTING.

A Miserable Fraud Deceives a Gazette Reporter.

On Tuesday the GAZETTE printed an item to the effect that Charles White was shot and killed the night before by George Hurst in Hurd's saloon at Truckee. The information was given a GAZETTE reporter by William —, who said he had come from Truckee on the morning train, and had witnessed the shooting and saw the dead man laid out. The particulars were detailed to the reporter in the presence of officer Green, Alex Dorals and others. It turns out that no such shooting occurred. It is no hoax, however, but a contemptible, venomous lie, devised by a low creature who is too ignorant to know better. Had there been anything amusing in it, had it contained the slightest glimmer of a joke for the most distant subscriber of the GAZETTE, there would have been some mitigating circumstances about it, but it was nothing but an unpardonable lie. A reporter gets nearly all news from others, and takes it for granted that decent men will not misinform him, and if once in a while a miserable fraud deceives him it is presumed the public will overlook it.

The up-country stages went off full this morning. The Bidwell stage could not take all that was offered.

The neon V. & T. train arrived considerably ahead of time to-day, bringing D. A. Bender and the Harrisons.

Shamrocks are in demand for tomorrow. St. Patrick's Day without the traditional green sprig would be a strange thing.

Assessor Stoddard is assessing stock cattle at $12 per head, beef at from $25 to $30, stock sheep at $125 per head and mutton sheep at $200.

Tramps are quite numerous. They are on their regular Spring trip, seeking work, of course, but devoutly praying they may not find it.

There was an unusual number of passengers this morning. The V. & T. had a good crowd bound to Virginia and south. Travel is improving fast.

As if there were a scarcity of drinking places, another saloon is to be started. Perhaps there is not a sufficient number to supply the bibulous wants of thirsty Renoites.

The GAZETTE will move to the Lindley building on Virginia street on the first, and occupy the whole of the upper story. It has grown out of its clothes and needs more room.

Indians came down from Truckee this morning with a considerable quantity of trout and white fish, which they took to Carson and Virginia for sale, as they can obtain better prices than here.

A fisherman caught more than 50 pounds of trout in the river at Glendale yesterday. One weighed upward of nine pounds.

The fish are going up the river at a lively rate, and are numerous below the dam, which they jump frequently.
